MEMBERS SUCCESS STORIES

By Patrick Salimi

We caught up with Victoria Munoz who just renewed her membership with OPTIONSOURCE.NET for a second year. Victoria's story is an inspiration for anyone looking to succeed in trading, but also to anyone who has ever faced a large challenge in life. Victoria is a proud mother of two boys and lives in California.

Victoria, what is your professional background?

VM: For 20 years I worked in entertainment law and had some "dream jobs" like working for the attorney representing Michael Jackson and later for the personal manager of Frank Sinatra and Liza Minnelli. After that my ex husband and I owned and operated a multi-million dollar telecommunications business.

What motivated you to learn to trade?

VM: In 2000 I was diagnosed with MS. It was a very difficult thing to deal with and I ended up going through a very ugly divorce. My husband told me on Mother's day in 2006 that he was leaving because "he couldn't deal with having a wife with MS". The divorce did not leave me with a lot of money, I could not even get a job because no one was willing to put me on their health plan. I began to look for a way to make money from home.

How were you introduced to OPTIONSOURCE.NET?

VM: Like most people I took a course with another company. They charged me $295 for an introductory seminar and $5000.00 for a weekend course. Before the end of that weekend I was pressured to spend another $5000.00 for each of the next SEVEN courses they said would be necessary to "really master my trade". The worst part was that the coaches were very condescending. After some more investigation I found OPTIONSOURCE.NET

What has the membership done for you?

VM: It's helping me undo the damage that was done to my account slowly. I get in to all the weekly tutorials. I feel they help keep me on track. I see how following their trades makes money. They also keep me from getting overwhelmed when I do have a loss.

What is the best part of the membership?

VM: I love the personality of the coaches. They are honest and I like their way of thinking. I love their humble attitude and the fact that they are able to help answer the questions of all their listeners, from beginners to advanced. They have a very responsive attitude whenever anyone seeks guidance on a particular stock or commodity during the weekly webinars. I tell everyone this program is vastly superior and that hands down you will get your money's worth with this membership.

What challenges did you face when you started trading?

VM: Fear, fear and more fear. Another problem was that the courses I attended before OPTIONSOURCE.NET made me feel "little". Some of the people involved were very condescending and made me feel like I was crazy to think I could do this as a single woman on my own, much less with MS...that I'd be lucky if I were still in the business in one year.

How has the membership helped you overcome those challenges?

VM: I am an emotional trader and the coaches keep me focused. The weekly tutorials help me understand WHY I am getting into and out of a trade. I am good at charting but I could not put it all together, they have helped me with that. They also showed me how to treat trading like a business. Most importantly, they have helped me limit the number of my trades and focus on 6 or 7 trades. I learned from the Tutorials that the coaches don't overtrade. That was an important lesson.

What is your next step with the membership?

VM: I am creating my own trading methods. I am learning to develop a trading method that best fits my personality.

What are your goals?

VM: I want to learn enough to be able to inspire others to learn to trade. I especially want to show anyone with a disability that they can learn this and be able to create an income from home.

What is the best thing about trading for you?

VM: I have done everything from traditional business to MLM. Trading is the best. No boss and no one to answer to. I can make my own choices. I love the time freedom and setting my own hours. I love that I can trade from anywhere, even when I am on vacation.

Thank you so much, do you have anything else you want to share?

VM: Yes. I would like to suggest to everyone: Don't get scammed, there are a lot of companies that charge big money for courses. You can learn all about options for a lot less with OPTIONSOURCE.NET
Jason and Patrick do a fabulous job. Even someone like me who spent over $10,000 in other programs took the advanced course. Everyone should, they will get a lot of gold nuggets from it.
